ISLANDS TAKEN FROM SPAIN.

Not Territory of the United States According to the Insular Commission. The insular commission has prepared an exhaustive opinion, in which it holds that the islands in possession of the United States as a result of the war with Spain are not part of the territory of the United States.

It has been generally conceded that we can do as we please with the islands which we obtained from Spain; that we can sell them, give them away or turn them over to the inhabitants who live upon them for the establishment of independent governments. If this general admission is true, then the commission affirms the islands cannot be part of the territory of the United States, because no part of the United States can be alienated. The United States can neither sell or alienate any portion of its territory, nor can any portion of the territory be acquired from Mexico in the war of 1846. There was a military occupation of New Mexico for five years before Congress by enactment extended the sovereignty of the laws of the United States over it and annexed it to the United States. Gen. Kearney set up a government and the laws of the United States were immediately extended over the islands, citizenship is conferred upon the inhabitants, the islands become free in virtue of the constitutional provisions prohibiting the laying of duties between portions of United States territory.

The situation with reference to Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, from the commission says, is practically the same as that territory acquired from Mexico in the war of 1846. There was a military occupation of New Mexico for five years before Congress by enactment extended the sovereignty of the laws of the United States over it and annexed it to the United States. Gen. Kearney set up a government and the laws of the United States were immediately extended over the islands, citizenship is conferred upon the inhabitants, the islands become free in virtue of the constitutional provisions prohibiting the laying of duties between portions of United States territory. Members of the commission believe that the courts of the United States, in rendering a decision on this question, would of necessity follow the political policy of the government.

THE LATE COLONEL BRITTON

Death Found Him in the Midst of Business Activity.

The Board of Trade Takes Action on His Death-Resolutions Adopted by Executive Committee.

The sudden close of the career of the late Col. A. T. Britton found him in the midst of the activities of a busy life. He had just completed his editorial work in connection with the Financial Review, and Friday, the day of his death, was the regular date of its publication, but owing to that sad circumstance the paper did not appear until today. Among the articles in that issue from the pen of Col. Britton was one on a topic of current interest, the consolidation of insurance companies.

This article is as follows: "Three local companies recently appointed a joint committee to consider the policy of their issuing a joint or underwriter's policy for foreign insurance, whilst retaining their individual policy for local business. That committee reported that the scheme was not practicable, because the capital of our local insurance companies was too small to meet the requirements of a sufficient number of states to make the business profitable; and that the only way to end upon a profitable foreign business would be the consolidation of enough companies to secure a sufficient capitalization. It is reported that the Lincoln and Potomac companies are negotiating to make such consolidation with the view of competing for outside business. The move is wise, it is founded upon sound business principles, and it is a step in the direction of the insurance conditions now existing in this district."

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the board of trade held this morning at the rooms of the board, 1410 G street northwest, a resolution in regard to the death of Col. A. T. Britton, the following was adopted:

"The earthly career of Alexander T. Britton, a member of this board of directors and general counsel to the board of trade, having been brought to its close with suddenness, the board of directors of the Washington board of trade desires to place on record an expression of its regard for the high standing and unimpaired character of Col. Britton and the loss it has sustained through his death."

Col. Britton was one of the charter members of the Washington board of trade, assisting very materially in its organization, and has been from the first its general counsel, giving valuable advice and assistance in many ways, and through his untiring energies aiding it in all its efforts to advance the interests of the District of Columbia.

Col. Britton's death will be felt, not merely by the board of trade, but by the entire community, inasmuch as his large-hearted sympathy and his high standing in everything that was for the good of the city; he had intimate and beneficial relationship with many charitable institutions. He was an important factor in a number of our most successful enterprises and leaves as a memory an unsullied professional and business reputation.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Col. A. T. Britton will be held at the residence, 1229 Connecticut avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Bishop Satterlee, who has come to the city from his summer home for the occasion, will officiate and Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe, the pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, will take part in the services. Col. Britton was brought up an Episcopalian, but for a number of years past had attended the New York Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was a member. He was also a member of the board of trustees of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral foundation, and as chairman of the building committee of the cathedral, he is now in course of building the cathedral grounds.

The pallbearers will be as follows: Honorary pallbearers--Mr. Charles J. Bell, Mr. Myron M. Parker, Gen. John M. Wilson, Mr. John W. Wright, Mr. Chas. C. Glover, Mr. John Joy Edson, Mr. Noble D. Lerner, Mr. Thomas Ryan, Mr. Wm. F. Mattingly, Mr. John J. Williams, Mr. Clarence F. Norment, Mr. William H. Moses, Mr. William B. Hibbs, Mr. Theodore H. Ayres, Mr. George E. Emmons, Dr. H. B. Deale, Mr. H. W. Reed.

TAKOMA PARK.

Preparing to Install the Sewer and Water Plants.

An informal meeting of the Takoma Park town council has been called for Tuesday evening at the residence of Mayor S. S. Shedd for the purpose of looking toward the inauguration of the water and sewer plants. The council is anxious to have work on the system started as soon as possible, and from the general tenor expressed by Mayor Shedd and the members of the council it is likely that an experienced engineer will be employed at an early date to make plans for the system.

No engineer has as yet been decided upon, although several have been spoken of since the decision of the people to establish the system. The council has expressed the vote at the election held last Monday.

Takoma is now visited by a tribe of hordes of rascals, who are the cause of the trouble. They were recently camped at Glen Sligo, a short distance from the park, but there being some misapprehension on the part of the residents, a portion of them have started an independent encampment and located temporarily at Takoma. The residents of the park are now being troubled by the usual rascals of the town, who are being cleared of grass and weeds.

PLENARY CATHOLIC COUNCIL.

Talk of Holding One in This City.

It is more than likely that a plenary council of the Catholic Church in America will be held three years hence in this city. Reports to this effect have been circulating in the west. At the apostolic legation it is said they are the outgrowth of the well-known fact that such councils are held every twenty years, the last one convening in Baltimore in 1889.

The assembling of such a council is an event of unusual importance to the church, as it brings together the entire hierarchy of the archbishops and bishops to frame the legislation of the church applicable to this country. It can be held, however, there must be a due determination by the authorities in the country, and then direction from the pope. The council of Baltimore, the American archbishops made a visit to Rome and petitioned the Vatican for the assembling of the council. This procedure is not essential, yet some such formal action is required, and in case a council is to be held in 1902 it is through the coming meeting of the American bishops, which is to be held in Washington next October, might consider the matter and frame a petition to the Vatican. It is not known, however, whether such a plan is being seriously considered by the prelates, and the report from the west is said to be conjecture, which may or may not prove true. Except that plenary councils are held every twenty years, there is a decree which makes this an established period for their assembling, there is said to be no special occasion for such an important convocation of church authorities.

The Cuban Orphan Fund.

Chas. W. Gould, secretary, reports that the trustees of the Cuban orphan fund have received from July 8 $10,064.25. He adds: "Needed buildings have been provided by the local authorities at Remedios and the work of installing is being pushed energetically. Five thousand dollars more has been sent to Miss Gill in Cuba."

STABBING AFFAIR.

Charles Oliver Seriously Injured in Fairfax County.

Charles Oliver of Jackson's Mill, Fairfax county, Va., was seriously and perhaps fatally wounded in a stabbing affray which occurred at that place yesterday afternoon. The assailant was Charles Armstrong of the same place, a friend and neighbor of the victim. Both men are about thirty years of age. News of the cutting reached the city last evening, but nothing further has been heard from the scene of the difficulty.

Jackson's Mill is near Great Falls, on the Virginia side of the river, about sixteen miles from this city and five miles from Fairfax Court House. From reports that have been received it seems that Armstrong and his brother William were giving a dinner at their home yesterday. Charles and James Oliver were included in the list of guests. After the dinner, the Oliver brothers became involved in a family quarrel, which ended in a fierce fight. James Oliver attempted to separate the brothers and finally did so. He held Charles Armstrong firmly in his grasp. The latter requested his release, saying: "I am not through fighting. When released, however, he turned upon James Oliver and attacked him with a knife. At this point Charles Oliver attempted to disarm the now thoroughly frenzied Armstrong. In doing so he was stabbed three times, once in the chest, once in the back and once in the arm. The assailant then fled. Charles Oliver's brother-in-law, Mr. Clements, lies dead at his home on M street near 25th.

APPOINTMENT REVOKED.

Mr. Willett Not to Be Superintendent of Post Office.

The appointment of ex-Postmaster James P. Willett as superintendent of the Post Office Department has been revoked. This action became necessary for the reason that the Postmaster General has not yet accepted the building from the treasury. The Treasury Department has been anxious for some time to turn over the building, but the Postmaster General is unwilling to assume the responsibility of its acceptance until he takes possession in fact.

It seems the treasury officials, as soon as Mr. Willett was appointed superintendent, took the position that the Postmaster General had assumed charge. This was stated by an immediate official of the post office, who then found it necessary, in order to sustain their position, to revoke the appointment of the superintendent. It is expected as soon as the building is occupied, which will be some time in the early fall, Mr. Willett will be appointed.

ATTEMPTED ASSAULT.

Mrs. Bury Attacked Last Evening at Twining City.

Mrs. Ann Bury, a resident of Twining City, reported to the police last night an encounter she had with an unknown colored man about 8:45 o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Bury said she was accosted while in her rear yard by the man, who demanded that she give him 50 cents. Upon her refusal the negro seized her, she stated, and showed violence toward her. In the struggle the man tore Mrs. Bury's dress nearly off. She made an outcry and aroused the neighborhood, bringing assistance. The man succeeded in making his escape. As soon as Sergeant Anderson learned of the affair he conducted a systematic search for the alleged assailant with the police officers. No trace of the man was found. From the description given by Mrs. Bury it is thought he is a tramp. She thought she would be unable to identify him.

As sadly we saw thee depart; Sadly for low can words tell The sorrow that settled in our hearts! They cannot, oh, language is faint When love's devotion would speak; Light pleasure or pain it may point, But with Nature's feelings it is weak! Thy last words are thrilling us yet, And our hearts would have leaved if they could have said: "We'll not you forget." But like some low and mournful spell, We whispered, "God be with you," farewell.

Regular high mass at church of the Immaculate Conception on Tuesday, July 11, at 9 a.m.

Three years, three weary years, Oh, can it be! And yet we feel so fresh the pain, We count them over and over again.

Oh, for a look on that sweet face, A touch of that vanished hand, For a sound of that voice we loved so well, That is now in the promised land. Gone, but not forgotten. * YOUR DEVOTED HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.
